Fourteenth Sunday In Ordinary Time

7th / 8th July

New directions in Safeguarding Children and Vulnerable Adults

The Royal Commission into Institutional Responses to Child Sexual Abuse has made us more than ever aware of past failures of the Church. It's one of the great paradoxes: the Catholic Church has a magnificent record of working with children, as our schools well show, but in this area of abuse of the young our record has been simply appalling.

How do you put those two together? I'm not sure. But I am sure that we now have to implement a much stronger policy and adopt much more effective practices in safeguarding children and vulnerable adults. That's why I've been keen to have the right people devise a new policy and am now happy to approve the fruit of their work, a policy document entitled Safeguarding Children and Vulnerable Adults.

The new policy replaces our previous child safety policy. It prescribes best practice in protecting children, young people and vulnerable adults.

Sadly, I can't give fail-safe guarantees that no harm will ever come to the most vulnerable among us, but the new policy is a decisive step in the right direction for the Archdiocese of Brisbane. It will help to heal the wounds of the past and make sure, as far as we can, that nothing similar happens again.

The policy includes important elements identified by the Truth Justice and Healing Council:

- A clear written policy statement
- Safe recruitment and selection processes for both employees and volunteers
- A code of ethical behaviour
- Training and education in conducting safe activities for children
- Responsible management of disclosure
- Mandatory reporting of suspected criminal behaviour to the police
- Monitoring of parish practices in accordance with this policy and regular auditing for compliance are also recommendations from the Truth Justice and Healing Council. These we have implemented.

The new policy makes crystal clear to all who work for the Church that the only way genuinely to help both those who have been abused and the Church is to make sure that we are more vigilant, more transparent and more accountable.

A policy is only as good as the people who implement it, or fail to implement it. May the Lord give us all the strength and compassion to do whatever needs to be done.
